May Report Shows No Dimes Made

The domestic coinage executed by the two U.S. mints during May totaled 175,455,000 pieces with a face value of $6,602,450 according to the Bureau of the Mint's report just announced.

No dimes were minted at all this month while only the Philadelphia mint made quarters and only the Denver mint made nickels.

Total halves struck at both mints in May were 5,110,000; quarters at Philadelphia totaled 3,020,000 pieces; nickels at Denver totaled 40,480,000 coins; while cents were coined to the tune of 126,845,000 pieces.

Proof coins manufactured at Philadelphia totaled 154,000 sets.

A complete month-by-month breakdown of the mint reports with cumulative totals for both 1960 and 1959 (for comparative purposes) will be found on page 22 in this issue of Coin World.

Small Date Variety Cent Est. Listed

The estimated number of small date variety cents struck was learned from a reliable source recently.

— Proof sets containing the small date cent are approximately 65,000.

— Philadelphia cents struck of this variety are estimated at two million.

— Denver small date cents are probably more than the Philadelphia number.

The cent dies at the Denver mint were the first to clog up, as the small date varieties were being struck early in the year. The "6" and the "0" in the date were the first to fill up.

The "0" in the date clogged up at the Philadelphia mint.

The only official word from mint officials for changing from the small date to the large variety was: "mechanical."

Practically all of the small date variety were struck in January.

Greer, S.C., Club Calls Special Meet

A special call meeting will be held June 25 by the Blue Ridge Numismatic Association at the Cotton Club, one mile south of Greer, S. C.

Purpose of the meeting is the election of permanent officers and other business. There will be a dinner and a trading session.

A free dinner will be awarded as a special prize. All club members, their wives and friends are invited.

Cincinnati Convention Lists Many

Some 1,000 persons attending the Cincinnati (Ohio) Numismatic Association's spring convention, June 10-12, called the conclave a success.

Held in the beautiful ballroom of the Cincinnati Club, 8th and Race streets, the convention was highlighted by presentation of awards for displays, attendance and the traditional banquet.

Named winner of the best of show trophy was Julian Marks, Cincinnati, for his paper money display in the U. S. general category. John J. Pittman, Rochester, N. Y., was presented the second best of show award, also a trophy.

Forrest P. Howe, Amelia, Ohio, was awarded two first place ribbons. Howe, general chairman of the event, received firsts for his coins of the world and display in the Canadian general category.

Pittman was also awarded a first prize ribbon for his English and Canadian gold display and a second prize for his display in the Canadian general category.

Special attendance awards were won by Don G. Brook, E. Boucher and Dr. R. E. Howard.

The auction was conducted by Jules Silverman of Cincinnati.

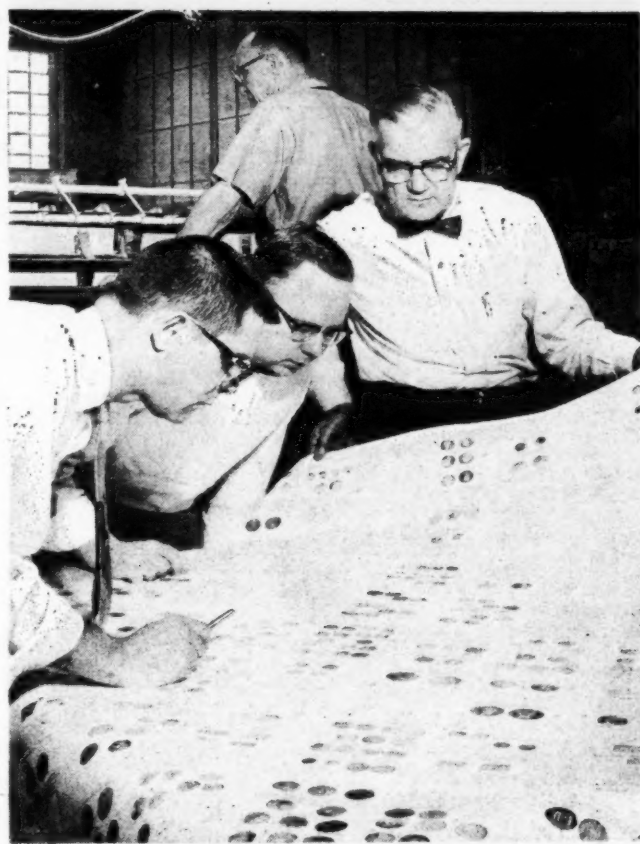

Colorado Club Hears Pinnell

Tom Pinnell gave a talk on paper money and coins of Hawaii for the Arkansas Valley Coin Club of Rocky Ford, Colo., June 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Boraker were hosts for the evening at the Southern Colorado Power Co. building.

Guide Book Released

14th Edition
Out June 20th

The 1961 Guide Book of United States Coins went on sale all over the country June 20th—the traditional publishing date for Whitman's "Red book."

Containing price rises generally of eight to 10 per cent, and new sections on Alaska, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands, the Guide Book is the yearly work of editor Richard S. Yeoman and a staff of experts and contributors.

Reflecting the current market value of all U. S. coins, this guide book for collectors was first published in 1947; the present 1961 issue is the 14th edition.

Newly listed as editorial assistant to Yeoman is Kenneth E. Bressett, formerly of Keene, N. H., who joined the Whitman firm in November, 1959, as numismatic editor.

Scheduling the production of the Guide Book starts in February each year when paper and materials are ordered. The special cloth cover comes in rolls one yard wide and is ordered by the mile.

A large high speed press is reserved for the actual printing operation in April when the entire book is printed on two sheets of paper, each containing 64 pages on both sides of the sheet.

Revising the prices is done by a panel of 36 contributors who are among the leading dealers and numismatists in the country. Heading up this panel as co-ordinator is Glenn B. Smedley.

Smedley's job is to average out and tabulate a nightmare-full of prices and enter these figures on a master sheet to determine each final price.

Coin World Tells Whys Of Special Vacation Edition

How did Coin World assemble information for this initial Numismatists' Vacation Edition?

How and where and why and when?

A look behind the scene for interested readers reveals both the hard work and expense this edition represents—plus the reason some pet exhibition or display or museum is not represented.

A month ago, one bright mid-May morning more than 1,200 letters went from Coin World offices to every museum, every library of note, every historical center, the major colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

The American Automobile Association's splendid series of tour books were used for this initial research. These books are published for the exclusive use of AAA members, but Coin World was granted special permission.

These letters told the curators and the directors and the owners and the managers that Coin World was interested in learning of research sources and public collections of numismatic material.

It explained the plan to present a special Vacation Edition to direct numismatic-minded travelers to points of interest.

The accompanying questionnaire inquired about the number and scope of coins, medals, tokens, paper money, numismatic literature—whether they were available to the public or to scholars only, the hours, the days of the week and the seasons the exhibits state titles from the Tour Books. Post-paid envelopes which had been included in the letters began streaming back to Coin World almost immediately!

The splendid cooperation resulted in a directory of nearly 200 numismatic points of interest in this country and Canada. Nearly a hundred sources that were contacted responded regretfully that they had nothing to offer the vacationers in the way of numismatic materials.

Less than a dozen pieces of mail were returned to Coin World offices because of insufficient addresses. This speaks well for the thoroughness of the AAA Tour Book!

It is through the generosity of the AAA, too, that the interesting state titles from the Tour Books are reproduced in Coin World's Vacation Edition.

Each one indicates the state flower with the exception of Alabama. George N. Shumway, editor of the AAA National Touring Bureau, advised Coin World that Alabama's new state flower is

Newark, N. J. Firm Moves

Newark Stamp and Coin Exchange of Newark, N.J., has moved to larger quarters, according to F. W. Bernet, manager.

Bernet stated that the firm has moved its offices from 760 Broad street to 800 Broad street.

They have been in the stamp and coin business for 52 years.

Control Number Key To 1944 Military Script

Allied military notes issued for circulation in Germany, 1944, can be identified by the issuing country.

Notes starting with the figure "1" in the control number were issued by the United States. If the control number begins with "0" it was issued by Great Britain, and "00" by France.

Russia issued military currency which were printed in Russia with American plates. They bear a dash before the control number.

The "Alliierten Militarbehörden," Allied Military Office, issued the notes in denominations of one-half through 1,000 marks. The most scarce notes in the series are the 100 mark note issued by France and the 1,000 mark notes issued by all four countries.

The Philadelphia mint can make one million coins in an eight hour shift.

Top Ten Cities For Vacationing Numismatists

Coin collections are found in large city museums and small town college libraries. Here is Coin World's list of the ten most important cities for the numismatist looking for public coin exhibits. Chosen for the number of coins on display, these cities should not be overlooked by the traveling collector.

1. New York City
2. Washington, D. C.
3. Philadelphia, Pa.
4. Pittsburgh, Pa.
5. New Haven, Conn.
6. Detroit, Mich.
7. Omaha, Nebraska
8. Boston, Mass.
9. Baltimore, Md.
10. Cambridge, Mass.

P.N.N.A. Re-elects C. H. Speight President During Ore. Convention

Charles H. Speight, Springfield, Ore., was re-elected president of the Pacific Northwest Numismatic Association during the concluding session of the group's convention.

The three-day conclave was held at Marion Motor Motel, Salem, Ore., where displays valued at $1,500,000 were shown by dealers and collectors.

Security officers closely watched the wide variation of domestic and foreign coins and currency, according to Al Watts, president of the Salem Numismatic Society and convention chairman.

Coins Taken In Hollywood

Husky-voiced Eartha Kitt has her rare coins back—but most of her $30,000 in personal effects are still missing, according to Hollywood police.

The singer identified the coins along with other items worth $2,200 at a Hollywood pawn shop a few hours after she discovered the theft and her two servants gone from her Hollywood Hills home.

Police said the pawnbroker identified photos of the two missing servants who pawned the items; an all-points bulletin has been issued for Carlos and Martha Caballero, caretakers hired by Miss Kitt three months ago.

A collection of French and German coins and currency, mementos of World War I, was in loot taken from the Leo Tamble residence, St. Paul, Minn.

Gene Lawrence Henry, Seattle, Wash., collector reported an 1823 one cent piece valued at $50 was missing from his display. Salem police said it was apparently taken some time Saturday during convention exhibitions.

He said some individual coins were valued at $9,000 each by collectors. One, a $5 Oregon beaver gold piece, was appraised at $1,250. Patricia Vasey, Roseburg, Ore., won a $500 1856 flying eagle cent as a special award.

Watts reported spirited bidding during the auction conducted by Charles Peters, Oakland, Calif. An 1851 $50 gold piece minted by the late Augustus Humbert brought $5,500.

Sixty-two coin dealers including one from Miami, Fla., and four from Canada were present. Nearly 400 persons attended the Saturday night banquet.

Serving with Speight for the coming year as members of the official family will be Jack Koch, Moses Lake, Wash., vice president; Mrs. T. H. Abney, Seattle, secretary, and William Worth, Portland, treasurer.

New board members are Al Watts, Salem; Mrs. Robert Alexander, Spokane, Wash.; Steve Bibler, Seattle; Roy Small Jr., Lowden, Wash.; and A. H. Bray, Eugene.

George Washington lived very near the first mint and dropped in almost daily.

Colorado Springs To Be Fall Colo.-Wy. Convention Site

Colorado Springs, Colo., will be the convention site of the Colorado-Wyoming Numismatic Association, Sept. 30 through Oct. 2, at the Alamo Hotel.

Officers and directors of the association met recently in Colorado Springs to make plans and inspect space for their ninth annual convention.

Guide Book

chosen price will be printed in the book.

"Generally speaking," said James Kelly, one of the contributors, "the prices show an eight to 10 per cent advance. This reflects the present market but it is slightly on the conservative side."

For particular series Kelly commented: scarce small cents advanced considerably, individual coins were selling well over the 13th edition prices.

Copper and silver were adjusted to conservative but realistic prices with not too much change for the commemorative issues. Gold was adjusted; however some rare mint marks were still undervalued.

Coins already selling over the new Red book prices, according to Kelly are: 1877 three cent and five cent in proof; 1885, 1886 and 1912-S nickels; the overdates; nickel, dime, and quarter; and the 1936-D, 1937-S, and 1938 quarters.

Barber and early proofs were up five to 10 per cent. The modern coins—1932 and later—were adjusted to current June, 1960 price levels.

Other features added this issue are: gold prices listed in very fine classification—since auction records show most gold coins are collected in this condition; the speculative items in current series have a star by the prices. These were noted for Jefferson nickels, Roosevelt dimes, and proof sets.

The new sections for Alaska, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands list all the denominations of the Hawaiian issues, the Alaska rural rehabilitation tokens of 1935, and the Philippine issues by types.

How many Guide Books were issued this year? Sorry, the Whitman company closely guards this secret. The books are available from Whitman distributors throughout the country.

Something New! PLASTIC ENVELOPES

Clear polyethylene, pliable and guaranteed not to crack or dry out. These long flap envelopes give maximum protection against chemical action which causes tarnish, spotting, etc. Coins can be displayed without exposure. Made to hold the large size Silver Dollar and most Crowns, but will still fit easily into a 2x2 envelope.

We are now using these for all our Uncirculated and Proof, as well as choice coins. Something collectors and dealers have been needing for years.

Cordes, Torpey Address Club

Phil Cordes Jr. and James Torpey were speakers at the Seymour (Ind.) Numismatic Society session in the Swope Memorial Art Gallery of the Seymour Public Library.

Cordes spoke on the history of the large one cent piece from its first coinage in 1794 through 1856.

Torpey, who was presented with the evening's special prize, an 1874 large one cent piece, discussed the flying eagles and Indian head cents, minted between 1857 and 1909.

Lincoln head and Canadian cents will be the topic coins for the next session.

Schulman Reports

Foreign Coin Interest Gains While American Prices Rise

By Hans M. F. Schulman

(Editor's note: This is the first report from traveler Hans Schulman. International mail being what it is we received the first installment after the second, which ran last week.)

With American coin prices going sky high, a growing interest in foreign coins, both in gold and other metals, is taking place.

More and more, the collector of American coins realizes that many foreign series form an integral part of American numismatics.

Didn't the Dutch, be it for a short period, bring their own money and weren't the Spanish coins even legal tender till the middle of the nineteenth century, not mentioning the English.

And the real coin collector wants to show the start of all numismatics—the coins of ancient Greece and Rome.

This is the reason that many of our American professional numismatists are travelling through Europe hoping to locate some of the needed pieces.

Spanish numismatists in Madrid mentioned the visit of William Fox Steinberg from Miami and in Lausanne, Switzerland, Sol Kaplan, Cincinnati, president of the Professional Numismatists Guild is expected.

My first stop was in Amsterdam where my cousin Jacques Schulman was still under the influence of the enormous prices obtained for European gold coins in his sale of March 25.

It was the largest sale ever held in Holland, both in attendance and in its total of $150,000. More than half the coins were sold over the prices in Friedberg. Although this applied mostly to the early mediaeval coins, coins like a 20 gulden and 10 gulden, 1810, of Louis Napoleon brought far over Friedberg's original high listing.

A new edition of the standard catalogue of Dutch coins is in preparation and among the recent publications the reprint of Mario Ratto's Byzantine catalog, was the most popular book put up for sale recently in Europe. This reprint is the best guide available on Byzantine coins and easily readable, even though in French.

My next visit was to Portugal and its beautiful Lisbon. The "Rua do Ouro" (gold street) is literally paved with gold coins; all the exchange houses, banks, gold dealers have their windows, one next to the other.

Ferraro Vaz is working on a new edition of his standard work on Portuguese coins, but I prefer the much more up to date (1958) two volumes by Dr. Pedro Batalha Reis, with valuations. The plates aren't too good, but Dr. Reis is one of Europe's foremost numismatists and his book is complete in the series.

I talked with Italy's King Umberto, who is living in exile in Cascais and who is gathering a collection of medals of the House of Savoy. King Umberto is an ardent numismatist and it was an honor to have been invited to his villa.

Madrid is the center of Spain but not of Spanish numismatics. Although Jose Yriarte, the author of the famous book on the 8 reales pieces (now out of print) lives there.

The real center in Spain is in Barcelona where the Numismatic Society can easily manage to get 100 members together.

This society sponsors auctions ably catalogued by X & F Calico, Spain's most outstanding professional numismatists. A large auction is being held these days containing Spanish and Spanish colonial coins. Mr. Calico told me that hundreds of pieces are being desired by American collectors and dealers.

The need for books on numismatics is always great, but one of the most needed is a book listing all the doubloons or onzas.

Mr. Calico is far advanced with the work and this book will be of great use to the American collector, as it is written in catalog form.

Everybody is getting ready for the convention in Lausanne at Whitsuntide (June 3-7). Your correspondent will cover the convention in detail.

No Need For Big Bills

The $100 bill is the highest denomination note printed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing since 1945. Stocks of $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 Federal Reserve notes are enough to meet demand.

Visit A Coin Display

Here is Coin World's first vacation edition. Other than the fact that it is our first special edition we hope you will put it to good use. After reading the contents why not make note of some of the collections you would like to visit. On your next trip take this issue with you and drop in the museums, libraries, etc.

Dick Johnson

This issue was largely the work of Mrs. Margo Russell, our historical researcher. An experienced newspaper woman, our editorial gal Friday, was in on the project from the start. It was planned and carried out by her in about six weeks. We had a basic list of coin collections in public museums. In addition to this we sent questionnaires to all likely prospects. Included were: museums, libraries, historical societies, universities, and some tourist attractions.

The "Tour Books" of the American Automobile Association were used as another source. We received excellent co-operation from this association and we are indebted to them for the use of the state headings and information in checking the accuracy of our listings. Personal thanks go to George N. Shumway, editor of the "Tour Books", and the National Touring Bureau Staff.

The vacation special edition will be a yearly event in Coin World. Next year it will probably appear in the month of May to give you more time in planning your vacation. Of course we will add new listings of heretofore unknown public displays of coins.

This brings up an important point. If you know of a collection that should be listed in the special issue, please send us the name and address of the institution. We appreciate your help in making this list complete for all interested collectors.

New 1961 Guide Book

With the issuance of the new 1961 "Red book" brought back a question I had wondered about for years: Why does each issue contain the same number of pages?

This year I found out. The entire book is printed on two sheets of paper! Big sheets of paper are printed with 64 pages on each side. Then they are folded and refolded and trimmed to proper size before being bound.

One of the reasons for the low cost of the Guide Book is the fact that it can be printed this way. Another reason is they sell so many.

Editor Dick Yeoman and his staff do a terrific job in bringing to collectors the current market values. In addition to the pricing job, they also give us new information, improve photographs, and keep adding current coins.

I still wonder how they do all this when they know they have to stay on two printed sheets. Let's see . . . 64 pages on two sides, that's 128. Double that is the number of pages in every Guide Book: 256.

Now here's a question for Dick Yeoman to answer: When are you going to print a three sheet edition of the "Red book" and give us 384 pages of your useful information?

Residents Of Five Cities Attend Monticello, Ill., Club

A 30-member club in its third year of activity — the Monticello Coin Club of Illinois — has members from Palatine, Arlington Heights, Rollins Meadows and Barrington.

Its new president is T. C. Stebbings, who also serves in the same capacity for the Elgin (Ill.) Coin Club.

Jerry Klopp is first vice president; Brian Cutler, second vice president; William Eppley, secretary; Sam Sherman, treasurer.

Each meeting of the club, held the first Friday of each month at Oak school, Addison, has a coin discussion period and a trading session.

Chase Has Inclusive Collection

The Chase Manhattan Bank Museum of Moneys of the World, RCA Building, Rockefeller Center, 1254 avenue of the Americas, New York City, has one of the most comprehensive currency collections on display in the world.

All periods since the introduction of monetary systems are represented in the more than 75,000 specimens and practically all political divisions of the world which have issued money are included.

Beginning with such ancient types as the clay table due bill of Babylon of 5,000 years ago and the implement shaped pieces and dress money of China, the collection contains a complete record of types of coins and money up to the present time.

There are specimens of odd and curious forms of money—brick tea, fish hooks, musket balls, woodpecker scalps and examples of wampum. There is the grotesque stone money of Yap, a small gold pin-sized coin from India and a Swedish copper coin weighing 31 pounds.

The American section contains many types of colonial coins including the pine tree shilling, the fugio cent and all types of coins issued by the United States mints. There is an 1804 silver dollar valued at over $10,000.

There is also a series of misstruck coins and paper money which has a special appeal to the public.

The visitor may see the evolution of paper money from the Ming dynasty of China in the 14th century to the modern $10,000 Federal Reserve note of the United States. To the numismatists and student of history or banking, the fine collection of United States paper money will prove of great value and interest.

In the museum are several thousand notes of foreign countries.

Improvements are made constantly by the addition of items of special interest and new issues from various parts of the world. Exhibits and special displays are loaned to banks, museums and libraries throughout the country. Visitors are welcome Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The museum is closed week-ends and holidays. The object of this collection is purely educational and the museum with its associated library of a thousand books, magazines and catalogs is open to the public without charge.

Fla. Museum Is Showcase Of Heritage

The Lightner Museum of Hobbies, King and Cordova streets, St. Augustine, Fla., a city-owned museum, is known as an international showcase of every man's heritage—and its exhibit of American and foreign coins, medals and currency plays an important part in the development of that theme.

The museum is an exposition created over the years by the late internationally-known collector, O. C. Lightner of Chicago, who believed people of this and future ages would welcome an opportunity for acquainting themselves with the historical, beautiful and prized creations of yesterday.

He also wanted to emphasize the interesting, education, entertaining and inspirational effect that would be obtained from viewing the hobby collections of the modern-day. The museum was to be designated a showcase of heritage and education.

The museum is open from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily. Adult admission is $1.10. It is closed on Christmas day.

Mo. Society Elects New Officers

Election of officers and the last meeting of the season marked the June 13 session of the Missouri Numismatic Society, held at the Hotel Claridge in St. Louis.

The new season will begin September 12 at a meeting to be held in the same location.

Members voted upon a slate of officers submitted by the nominating committee. These included:

President, Stanley B. McClintock Jr.; vice president, Edward Boehme Sr.; secretary-treasurer, W. G. Arnold; board of governors, chairman, Christian Schlather; Albert H. Wick, Joseph Rataj and J. S. Stevenson.

Schlather is retiring as president. Serving with him were Jerry Taetz as vice president; W. G. Arnold, Belleville, Ill., secretary-treasurer, with Arno S. Meyer, Collinsville, Ill., chairman of the board of governors. Members of this group were J. W. Dettenwanger, Joseph Rataj and J. S. Stevenson, all of St. Louis.

The Missouri society was organized in 1939. It meets the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. at the Hotel Claridge, 1800 Locust street, St. Louis.

Eric P. Newman spoke on "Exciting New Discoveries in Coin Research" for the program highlight. Newman is widely known as a numismatic researcher and has written several books.

There were bourse tables—midway fashion—special prizes and the monthly auction conducted by C. J. G. Miller.

Ohio Club To Hear "History In Coins"

"History in Coins" will be the subject of the program for the West Cuyahoga Coin Club meeting Wednesday, June 22, at 8 p.m. in the Coe Memorial building, Butternut ridge and Lorain road, North Olmsted, Ohio, James Novak, publicity director, reveals.

Miss Mildred Shunk will be the guest speaker. Mrs. William F. Wooley will be the auctioneer for the evening. There will be displays and a bourse table.

New Calif. Society Forms

Members of the Lakewood (Calif.) Numismatic Society will meet June 28, 7 p.m., for their second meeting at the Simon Bolivar Park.

A prominent Southern California numismatist will be guest speaker, according to Alice Brightenburg, secretary-treasurer of the club.

The first meeting of the group was held late last month. Officers were elected.

They are: Henry Cutting, president; Jay Kay, vice president; Alice Brightenburg, secretary-treasurer. Lou Zumwalt, Dale Sears, Len Back and Ronald Brightenburg were elected to the board of governors.

Your chance of becoming a millionaire is one in 17,500 according to Cosmopolitan magazine.

Port Jervis Club Maintains Both Collection And Library

The Minisink Coin Club, Port Jervis, N. Y., has both a coin collection and a library.

The Port Jervis Free Library is the site of the group's meetings on the second Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. There are no meetings in July and August.

Twenty regular members and eight junior members take part in the activities of the club which was established in January, 1953. There are also three honorary members.

Officers who were elected in January are Howard Vollmer, Port Jervis, president; Mrs. Stewart Gay, Monticello, vice president; Mrs. Rose Skelenger, Port Jervis, treasurer; and Alfred A. Petrie, Sparrowbush, secretary.

Detroit's Money Museum Represents Years Of Work

The newest display of coins went on exhibit April 28 in Detroit. In a simple ceremony—cutting a white satin ribbon—the Nate S. Shapero collection opened for public viewing.

Coinciding with the Detroit convention of the Central States Numismatic Society, the opening drew crowds of numismatists and laymen to the mezzanine of the new multi-million dollar main office of the National Bank of Detroit.

The collection was formed by Nate S. Shapero, chairman of a drug store chain and director of the National Bank of Detroit.

A quiet collector, some of his closest friends did not know of his numismatic interest. Shapero spent 40 years in forming this collection. The Detroit businessman and philanthropist gathered specimens from all over the world in his numismatic search.

The collection is the charge of Rear Admiral Oscar H. Dodson (USN Ret.), as director of the Money Museum of the National Bank of Detroit. Admiral Dodson is well known to numismatists, as the president of the American Numismatic Association, and for his extensive travels and lectures.

"Opening the collection," said Navy man Dodson, "is like commissioning a ship." He went on to explain there were delays and last minute chores but the job got done.

"The identification cards were just finished the day before the opening," said Dodson, "and if you looked closely you might have found several misplaced."

$50 gold slug

Annam gold coin

Containing 12,500 items, the Shapero collection is strong in: coins of the world, U.S., and odd and curious. It covers a period of 4,000 years with items from every part of the globe.

Medals and tokens are included, along with ancient and medieval coins, U.S. and foreign paper money. Objects associated with the use or of the production of coins are also represented.

Housing the collection is unique. A new concept for displaying coins—a museum without walls—was used to show coins and artifacts to best advantage.

Three types of cases were created: large two-sided vertical cases, tall cylindrical cases, and flat round cases like overgrown coffee tables.

The display cases were a product—as was the entire design of the Money Museum—of the Detroit firm W. B. Ford Design Associates, who specialize in interior building design.

Admiral Dodson worked closely with an associate of the firm, Theodore Luderowski, in planning this new concept museum. The planning started in September of 1959 and ended in the finished product now on display.

Placement of the cases—there are 21 in all—is so arranged as to create a pattern in which viewers can travel through the museum.

The cases are solid maple and stainless steel tubing covered with white Formica. Coins are placed on gray felt which has a cork base, setting the pieces in a colorful, modernistic background.

For the museum visitor to step into the National Bank of Detroit, what would he see? Well, first a ride up the escalator from the spacious main floor to the richly decorated mezzanine. Turn right and sign the Money Museum register.

The entrance features a large plaque of the famed decadrachm of Syracuse, one of which is in the collection. As most visitors step past this plaque they look on the back to find several examples of Yap Islanders fei money—the big stone coins.

An early case features, as one of the guides points out, a "medley of Swedish plate money" of one through 10 daler denominations. In the same case is a Chinese counting board.

Next is one of the earliest pieces of paper money—from the Ming dynasty and made from mulberry leaves. Then jade, cash coins, knife and tea money, all oriental.

One of the cylindrical cases contains a large number of money trees and related items. An African section displays swords, spears, a giddy penny, and needle money. The Ubangi throwing knife money attracts a lot of attention.

The section of primitive money from North and South America features Canadian fish spear money, and a human face token from Guatemala.

Also among these items are American Indian necklaces made from both elk's teeth and human finger bones, tea leaf money from Amazon tribes molded in the forms of fish, turtles and birds.

A Babylonian clay tablet—the first known form of a bank check—is included in the exhibit along with a silver tetradrachm issued by Alexander the Great to pay his Macedonian soldiers, and a famed lepton of Judea, the widow's mite of the Bible.

A set of Biblical medallions of Sir Edward Thomas appears in one of the cases. They were engraved by Thomas in 1830 to 1840 and each medallion shows a traditional scene from the Bible on one side and the actual passage is engraved on the reverse.

The United States coinage, except for a few rarities, represents a complete collection of pieces issued by United States mints. Included in the display is a rare United States $3 gold piece; a 1913 Liberty head nickel, and a 1851 octagonal, privately-minted $50 gold piece—the California slug. Modern coins of the world are displayed in a case emphasizing the United Nations countries. Minor coins from over 100 countries are displayed with flags of their respective countries.

In his speech at the opening ceremony, Admiral Dodson made this observation for the visitor to the Money Museum:

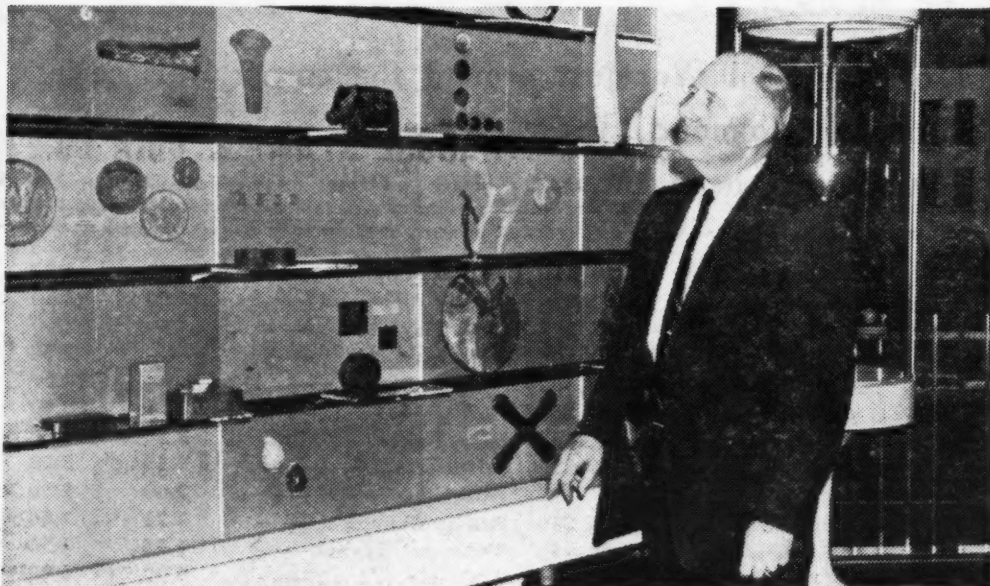

"You will be looking at original creations, at personal documents of ancient men. If these artifacts and coins could speak, what drama they could relate of prehistoric darkness, or hunger, instinct, violence, of the first villages, first tools, first coins, of faith and sacrifice, of the wonder of the human heart and mind."

Rear Admiral Oscar H. Dodson, (USN Ret.), director of the Money Museum of National Bank, Detroit, is shown with some of the unusual pieces on display. The museum, one of the largest in the world, features the collection of Nate S. Shapero, well known Detroit businessman, numismatist and philanthropist.

The Story of Mankind—from caveman to present-day space explorer—is told in coins, currency and artifacts in the Money Museum of National Bank of Detroit. Items from every corner of the globe covering over 4,000 years of civilization are displayed. The plaque on the entrance panel is a reproduction of the famed decadrachm of Syracuse, issued 400 B. C.

Typical of the crowds of numismatists who visited the Money Museum in the new Detroit National Bank are these interested spectators during the recent Central Sales Numismatic Society's annual convention in the Motor City. The exhibit cases are of glass with individual fluorescent lighting.

This is an exterior view of the new multi-million dollar main office of National Bank in downtown Detroit which houses the Money Museum on its mezzanine floor. The museum is open to the public without charge during regular banking hours Monday through Friday.

the camellia instead of the golden-rod.

In some cases, of course, Coin World asked, but did not receive!

It is with next year's edition in mind that an appeal goes forth to the readers—if some good exhibits of numismatic materials have been inadvertently omitted in this edition, Coin World would appreciate a "fill-in". Already Coin World has learned, during its young life, of the willing interest of its readers.

The origin of the Russian ruble dates to the Arab silver dirhems which were traded between the Arabs and the Lithuanians. The Lithuanians then melted the dirhems into long bars which were used to buy wheat and other commodities from Russia. Russia's Duke would then cut the bars in half, making rubles, and stamp each half with his coat of arms. The meaning of the ruble is "to cut."

U.S. Bureau Of Eng. Has Many Duties

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing, designs, engraves and prints currency, bonds, treasury notes and bills, postage and revenue stamps, checks and miscellaneous engraved work for the various governmental departments—everything from the lofty $500,000,000 treasury note to admission cards to White House receptions!

Located south of the Monument grounds at 14th and C streets, S. W., in Washington, D. C., the main building is open to visitors from 8 to 11 a.m. and from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, except on legal holidays. The Bureau is closed on Saturdays and Sundays.

Visitors are escorted on a tour by a trained guide who explains the various operations in currency printing. There is no charge for the guide service.

The beginning of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing may be traced as far back as August 29, 1862, when a force of two men and four women working in a single room in the attic of the main treasury building began to separate, seal and sign $1 and $2 notes which had been printed by private contractors.

As the years progressed, the

This is the home of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D. C., located south of the Monument grounds at 14th and C streets, S. W. The Bureau occupied the new $3,000,000 structure in 1914. In 1938 the Bureau Annex, directly across from the main building, was completed. The Bureau actually constitutes a large modern factory with a combined floor space of approximately 30 acres in the two buildings and employing 3,400 people.

bureau gradually absorbed the functions performed by private bank note companies and on October 1, 1877, the printing of all U.S. securities was centralized in the bureau. The printing of internal revenue stamps was taken over in 1876 and the production of postage stamps in 1894.

The principal product of the Bureau is paper currency. Aside from the printing of the nation's currency perhaps the work of the Bureau having the widest general appeal is the printing of postage stamps.

Interesting statistics accompany the bureau's current news bulletins. In the fiscal year 1959 1,799,800,000 pieces of currency was printed at the bureau with a face value of $7,293,800,000. Officials estimate the life of a $1 silver certificate at 13 to 14 months.

Trends Of Today's Coin Values

Interest Develops In 1960 Small Date Cent

By Jim Kelly

333 W. First St., Dayton 2, Ohio

The many letters from subscribers are most welcome and certainly appreciated. By letting us know your likes and dislikes, we are in a better position to give you the information most desired. This is not only true of this column but of the entire publication.

Jim Kelly

I have answered most of the letters directed to me personally and have not overlooked the comments and suggestions in those not yet answered. For instance, one collector wanted to know if we thought 1960 proof sets would be a good investment and if they would continue to rise in price for the next year or so.

Still another asked if any one investor, or group of investors, were trying to control and manipulate certain coin. Questions such as these cannot be answered as they are controversial and a matter of opinion and I do not feel that this Department, or Coin World, should become involved in such matters.

We will gladly answer, or find the answer, to any technical numismatic question, or will consider any suggestions as to how to improve this publication.

In recent letters there have also been many questions regarding the 1960 large and small date Lincoln cents. So far there has not been enough trading in these to establish a firm price so we have refrained from listing them in "Trends" until this issue.

We have been doing quite a bit of research on these and while unofficial, we have reason to believe the following figures are quite accurate: 1960 Proof Set with small date cent — 65,000 struck. 1960 Philadelphia cent, small date — 2,000,000 struck. 1960 Denver cent, small date — considerably more struck.

The reason for changing from the small date to the large was mechanical. The small "0" in the date of cents struck at Philadelphia, and the "6" and "0" at Denver, were clogging up and not stamping out clearly. Practically all of this coinage was struck during the month of January.

A Word Or Two Of Explanation

Since we have many readers who are just starting to collect rolls, for their information may we point out that a roll of cents contains 50 pieces with a face value of 50c; a roll of nickels contains 40 pieces with a face value of $2.00; a roll of dimes contains 50 pieces with a face value of $5.00; a roll of quarters contains 40 pieces with a face value of $10.00; a roll of halves contains 20 pieces with a face value of $10.00.

The condition for singles and rolls quoted is standard brilliant uncirculated. Mint sets are quoted in brilliant uncirculated condition, and contain the proper number of coins available from the indicated mint for that year. Proof sets are special condition (proof or mirror surface made only at the Philadelphia mint) and contain one coin of each denomination.

Smithsonian Plans Modernized Exhibit

A transformed, completely modernized numismatic exhibit will soon greet visitors to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C., V. Clain-Stefanelli, curator of the Division of Numismatics, has advised Coin World.

"The old numismatic exhibits have been dismantled and the Coin Hall has been completely renovated," Clain-Stefanelli said.

"We are expecting to obtain the delivery of new exhibit cases and we will then proceed with installation of our modernized exhibits in the Arts and Industries Building. We are working under great pressure," the curator disclosed.

These changes, however, do not detract from the exhibition of the famous Eliasberg collection of United States coins at the Arts and Industries Building until August 15. The Eliasberg collection is regarded as the most complete of its kind in the world.

FAYETTEVILLE

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS MUSEUM has a hundred classical Greek and Roman coins and Confederate paper money, especially that of Arkansas. These are available for public viewing upon request. The museum is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. without charge.

The Smithsonian's coin collection consists of more than 115,000 specimens—coins and medals of all periods and metals as well as paper currencies.

The collection had its start in 1793 at the United States Mint in Philadelphia. Each year the chief coiners would set aside a specimen of each type and date of coin minted. This mint collection was transferred to the Smithsonian after the first World War.

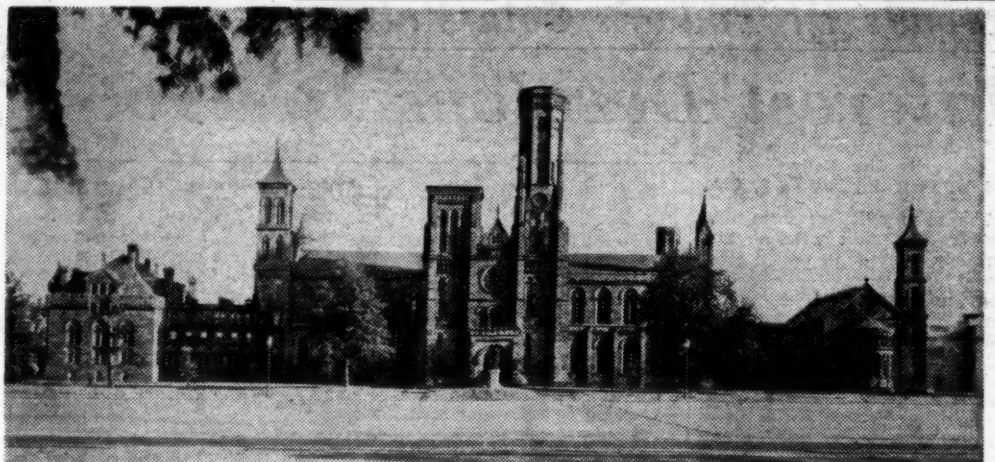

To this collection have been added coins of foreign countries of all periods in various metals from iron to gold and platinum. In addition, extremely valuable coin collections have been presented to the institution by private donors.

Beginning with Ptolemy I of Egypt, 323-285 B. C., the first man to place his portrait on a coin, nearly every famous person in history will be found portrayed on coins and medals in the collection. This adds greatly to the historical value for in many instances such portraits are not to be found in any other medium of art.

Of special interest is the long series of Roman portrait coins, the many coin denominations that are closely interwoven with history and literature—the widow's mite, the tribute penny mentioned in the Bible, the Venetian ducat, the florin of Florence, the Spanish doubloon.

Earliest coins represented are the staters of Lydia, Aisa Minor, coined about 700 B. C.

One section of the United States portion of the collection is devoted to the pattern or experimental pieces made at the Mint as early as 1792 and continued up until fairly recent years.

The collection of Lincoln medals and tokens was formed by the late Robert Hewitt of New York—its 1,300 pieces make it one of the largest in its existence.

The paper money collection is divided into seven periods, the first of which is devoted to the notes issued by the 13 colonies.

Officials estimate more than two million visitors view the coin collection each year.

The Arts and Industries Building is located on the south side of Smithsonian Park, 9th street and Jefferson drive, S.W. It is open daily except Christmas, 9 to 4:30 p. m. and is free.

Essex Prides Oriental Books, Coins

A collection of oriental numismatics—books, coins and medals—donated by John Robinson is located at the Essex Institute, 132-134 Essex street, Salem, Mass.

Started in 1857, the Robinson collection, at the time of its donation to Essex Institute in 1913, contained 3,418 pieces. A catalog of the books was compiled by the donor and published the same year. It listed 506 numismatic works relating to the Orient.

Howland Wood added several items to the collection and several gold and silver coins from Thomas Hunt were incorporated into the Robinson collection.

The numismatic items on public display are arranged by types to show major changes in coinage. These coins are limited to U.S. only, however, the colonial items are notable. There is a large collection of hard time and Civil War tokens and some early colonial and Continental currency.

Some of the material is available to the public, others to scholars only.

The institute is open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Tuesday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 p. m. on Sundays and holidays. There is no charge.

A Coast Guard supply depot was the last agency to use the old United States Mint building, located at 420 Esplanade avenue on the edge of the New Orleans French quarter. Shown in an aerial view here, it was built in 1836 from river mud brick and granite at a cost of $182,000. Last used as a mint in 1910, it later housed an assayer's office, a veterans' bureau and a prison. Now it stands vacant. (Photo courtesy U. S. Coast Guard).

For one of the most outstanding collections of medical medals in the world, the numismatic-minded vacationer should visit the Boston Medical Library, The Fenway, in Boston.

Here will be found the famous Horatio Robinson Storer collection of some 4,000 medals of medical interest.

This collection was established by Dr. Horatio Robinson Storer and was eventually presented to the Boston Medical Library in memory of his father, David Humphreys Storer.

Dr. Storer also wrote a work entitled "Medicina In Nummis" which was published in 1931 under the editorship of his son, Malcolm Storer. The basis for this work was the very fine collection which the Boston Medical Library now owns.

The book is still in print and may be purchased from the library at $15 a copy. Proceeds from the sale of this volume are applied to the purchase of new medals for the collection.

Charles C. Colby III, the librarian, advised Coin World that the library has a policy of use "halfway between 'to scholars only' and 'open to the public'".

"The library is open for reference to any serious reader," he said. "This would also apply to the collection of medals.

How many tail feathers does a bald eagle possess?

This problem in arithmetic accounted for two types of the 1878 liberty head silver dollar. One bears eight feathers and the other seven in the bird of prey die.

The change occurred after some stickler for detail advised mint authorities t h e y must eliminate one feather to be authentic!

A.N.S. Devotes Itself Solely To Numismatics

The American Numismatic Society's Museum, located in New York on Broadway between 155th and 156th streets, is unique because it is the only museum in the world devoted entirely to numismatics!

Its collection of half a million numismatic items is large and representative, covering all fields including the important ones of ancient Greece and Rome, the Far Eastern series and the Muhammadan issues. The mediaeval, modern and American groups are also distinguished.

By far the greater portion of the collection has been received through bequests and gifts both of collections and of single specimens. A relatively small proportion has been acquired by purchase.

The collection's great strength in the ancient Greek, Roman and Byzantine periods lies in the great collection bequeathed by Edward T. Newell, the society's president from 1916 until his death in 1941. He had a collection of over 87,000 pieces.

The society maintains public exhibition in two halls. They are equipped with specially designed display cases and lighting, modern methods of display that show and interpret the coins and medals.

Not only are the coins and medals themselves shown, but also there are photographic enlargements, maps and other devices to tell the story each case is intended to illustrate.

In one hall the displays tell the story of the development of coins with their many changes from their beginning some 2600 years ago until today.

The other hall is devoted to medals and decorations of honor. There the displays trace the development of medallic art from its origin in the Renaissance to modern times.

The Society's library is the most comprehensive numismatic library in America and compares well with the long established ones beyond the Atlantic. In recent years few numismatic studies have been made in the United States without consultation of its resources. It contains 50,000 items covering every facet of numismatics.

Collections donated to A.N.A. have been prominent and frequent throughout its 100-year life. Names of donors are the important numismatists of their day. These famous collections can be found at A.N.S.: Mickley, Newell-Wood Far Eastern, Newell-Valentine collection, George H. Clapp, Beatty, Schroeder, Ives, Cammann, F.C.C. Boyd and C. Wylls Betts, to list a few.

The donors list would be endless, however, no review of the Society's collections should be made without mentioning the name Archer M. Huntington, who gave considerable items to the American Numismatic Society collections.

The library facilities are available to the public daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. excepting Sunday, Monday and holidays.

The public exhibition of coins and medals is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Sundays and Mondays and holidays.

Graceless Florins Omit 'Dei Gratia' In Legend

The first florin struck for Queen Victoria omitted "Dei Gratia" as part of the legend.

Two years later, 1851, the error was corrected when florins were issued bearing the correct wording.

"Dei Gratia" means "by the grace of God" so the erroneous coins were dubbed godless florins, or graceless florins.

The museum of the American Numismatic Society (top photo) is this handsome structure, found in a group of buildings facing Audubon Terrace, a court that opens on Broadway between 155th and 156th streets in New York City. The concrete structure was the society's permanent home, erected in 1907; a limestone-faced addition in 1929 doubled its size. The frieze on the original building bears the name of the Society. On the addition there are names of famous numismatists of the past: Eckhel (Greek and Roman coins); Head (Greek Coins); Heiss (Spanish coins); Lelewel (Mediaeval coins); Fraehn (Islamic coins) and Crosby (early American coins.) The exhibition is open to the public from 2 to 5 p. m. daily excepting Sunday, Monday and holidays. The bottom photo shows the exhibition of medallic art from its Renaissance origin to modern times.

Yale Houses Canadian, U. S., Medals

More than 60,000 items are in the Yale numismatic collection, housed in the Sterling Memorial Library, High street, in New Haven, Conn.

The collection presently includes: 48,000 coins of a general nature, 3,700 medals of the world. The 5,000 tokens are largely U. S. and Canadian. The currency is mostly U.S. and Confederate.

Having few coins before 1860 in its collections, an extensive effort was made in the early 1860's to obtain numismatic specimens. The results were so productive that a catalog of its Greek and Roman coins published in 1880 took 236 pages. The catalog was compiled by the curator of the collection at that time, Dr. Jonathan Edwards.

Today the library at Yale contains a total of 2,200 volumes dealing with numismatics.

The time the library is open varies each year, its officials said. It is closed all holidays. There is no cost.

San Francisco Mint Shown

Newest of three mint buildings to be erected in San Francisco is this one located at 133 Herman street. The first Mint was on Commercial street between Montgomery and Kearny streets. It had its official opening on April 3, 1854. The second Mint, at 5th and Mission street, still stands in stolid splendor. There are no coinage operations at the present Mint building; it serves only as a depository.

A United States $5 bill is described as a "finif" in Yiddish.

University Supplies Exhibitions

The Johns Hopkins University numismatic collection, Baltimore, Md., is so vast it can supply material for five large series of exhibitions from September through June, according to Sarah Elizabeth Freeman, its curator.

These exhibitions are comprised of books and numismatic items illustrating an appropriate subject or theme. These are open to the public without charge Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 in the afternoon.

The first show next fall will be entirely books; the second will be on medals. Curator Freeman announces. No dates have been set.

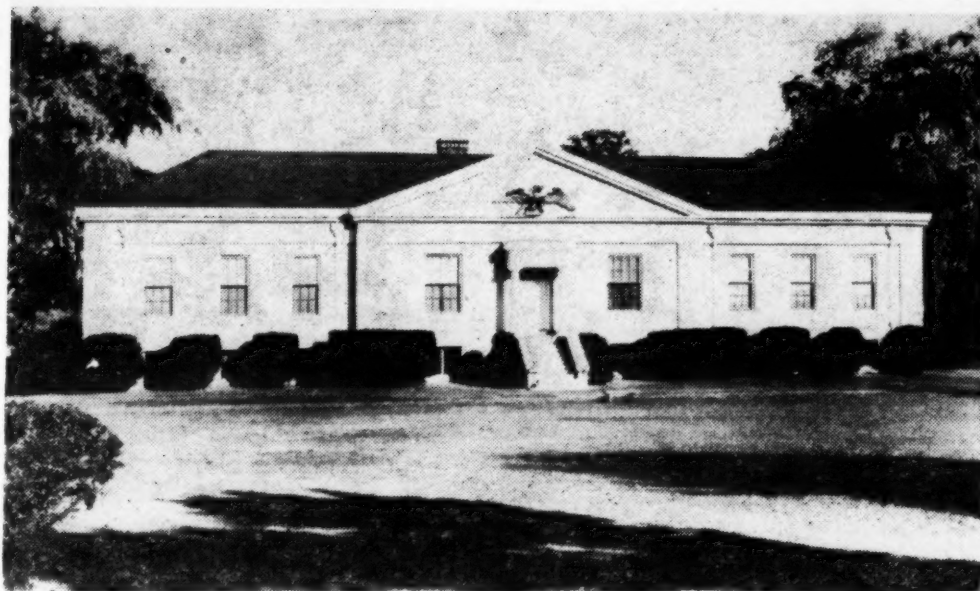

Housed in the Evergreen House—the former John Work Garrett home, now the property of the university—the numismatic collection, the minor arts collection and most of the rare book division of the library share the quarters. They are located about a mile from the main campus.

The former John Work Garrett collection is a part of the university collection.

The bulk of the numismatic material is kept in a vault to which only certain specified members of the staff have access, and it is impossible to get into it when the house is open to the public.

Anyone wishing to use any particular items must make an appointment in advance and sufficiently so that a date and hour may be arranged, Curator Freeman explained.

"We prefer to make these in the morning—also to avoid the public—for such service is only

Former N. C. Mint Now Museum

Charlotte, North Carolina, is the site of the Mint Museum of Art, once a branch of the U. S. Mint. Now it houses a permanent collection of sculptures and paintings and is host to monthly for recognized scholars and collectors," she said.

Of course," she continued, "we are always ready and willing to furnish information in answer to letters. Anyone seeking a special appointment must indicate the specific coins or general field of interest in order that the material may be prepared in advance.

The numismatic books are for the most part in the main library on the campus and can be used under the rules and regulations of the library.

Miss Freeman estimates there are about 20,000 ancient and modern coins, representing all countries, about 5,000 medals including a large medical collection, chiefly U.S. fractional and Confederate, plus several thousand titles of numismatic literature.

Evergreen House is open 10 to 4 p.m. for scholars and 2 to 5 p.m. for the public Monday through Friday. There is no cost. It is closed the usual holidays and to the public during July and August.

MURDO

PIONEER AUTO MUSEUM, Junction of U. S. 16 and 83, has a few coins in its display of antique items. Open to the public seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. April through October, the cost is 50 cents.

RAPID CITY

FEDERAL SIOUX INDIAN MUSEUM has medals and tokens used on the Indian reservations in South Dakota as money. Open Monday through Friday 9 to 4:30 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

VERMILLION

UNIVERSITY MUSEUM has a world-wide collection of coins—about 3,000, plus 2,000 military and commemorative coins, some tokens and a few items of numismatic literature. Viewing is possible with permission of the director of the museum 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. every day.

The British unicorn which appears on so much of that country's coinage is described in the Bible, Job 39:9-12. It was known as a reem in Hebrew

HANOVER

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE MUSEUM, E. Wheelock street, has coins, medals, tokens and Confederate money and a display on the functions of money. Closed Sundays in the summer, the museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 on Sundays. It is closed major holidays with the exception of Memorial day. There is no cost.

MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER HISTORIC ASSOCIATION, 129 Amherst street, has a few coins and a small collection of paper money. Closed on holidays, it is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. except Sunday and Monday.

Planning On Traveling Abroad? Don't Overlook These Museums

Proximity and longevity are the two magic words in Numismatics Abroad—and for those vacationing collectors who are bound for other lands breath-taking collections of greatest significance are in store . . . Or, to use an American colloquial expression most countries are advanced in their numismatic exhibits because they were "fustest with the mostest!"

After all, the history of coinage began in the western world at the Lydian mint, nestled down in the western part of Asia Minor, and the foreign and ancient fields of the countless museums are richer in these areas because there has been more material to collect—and more time in which to collect it!

Most experts who have had the privilege of making the grand tour of overseas museums are impressed with the excellent exhibits and the excellence of training demonstrated by the curators and members of their staffs.

All major museums can offer outstanding collections, of course, whether a traveler's "Cook's tour" takes him east, west, north or south. But sometimes, as with most exciting traveling experiences, interesting collections can be located off the beaten path.

Silver ring money of early Japan as known as "gin kwan."

Nearly every university or college the world around has some type of coin collection—and many of the religious training centers, schools, convents, or monasteries have items of numismatic interest.

The city or village museums are often a rich storehouse of visual satisfaction to the numismatist on the go. There are virtually thousands upon thousands of volumes of literature on the subject scattered among the libraries of the European cities—some of them dusty and thick-smelling but works of numismatic literary and printing art—appealing to several aesthetic senses.

At one time there was more than a hundred major museums throughout the world offering collections of mammoth size. But, like all things, time can change exhibits and even timeless objects like museums.

However, Coin World will list this grouping of all-time "great" numismatic exhibits for nostalgic reasons if for not other . . . This listing begins with the world's most famous museum, the British Museum in London.

Two other collections in the same city are those of the Royal Numismatic Society and the British Numismatic Society. Before the traveler leaves England he should arrange to see the Fitzwilliams Museum in Cambridge and the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford.

The collection of the University at Glasgow, Scotland is a must. Crossing the English channel to Paris leads the traveler to the Cabinet de France. Brussels in Belgium offers the Belgian National Collection. Both the Royal Cabinet, The Hague, and the Museum of the Mint, Utrecht, in the Netherlands, are of great worthiness.

In Copenhagen, Denmark, is found the Royal Danish Cabinet with the Stockholm Museum in Stockholm and the collection of the University at Upsala in Sweden in the same geographic area.

There's the Helsinki, Finland, Museum, the Riga Municipal Museum in Latvia and the Tallinn Museum in Estonia. Russian areas of interest are the Moscow Art Museum, Moscow, the Kharkov Museum in Kharkov, Odessa's Art Museum, Warsaw, Poland, is at Olympia, Corinth and Patras, the home of the National Collection and Bucharest, Rumania, the Rumanian Cabinet. Bulgaria has the Varna Museum, Varna.

Greece points with pride to the National Museum and the Museum of the Acropolis in Athens, and museums at Olympia, Corinth and Patras. Yugoslavian museums include the National in Belgrade, one in Zagreb, the Municipal Museum at Split, and the museum at Salona. Hungarian attractions are the National Collection at Budapest and the Debrecen Museum at Debrecen.

In Italy visitation musts are the Vatican Collection, Museo Na-zionale, the Museo dei Conservatori in Rome, the Palazzo Pitti, Museum of Palazzo Vecchio, Bargello Municipal Museum, Florence; National Museums in Naples and Palermo, the Museum of Milan, Milan; Museum of Torino, Turin; the Museum of the Palazzo dei Dogi, Venice, and the Museum of Bologna in the city of the same name.

Five museums are to be found in Austria, one of the world's largest in Vienna, the Kunsthistorische, and another in the same city, the Roman Museum of the City of Vienna. In Deutsch-Altenburg is the Museum Carnuntum, in Klagenfurt and Salzburg are museums.

German museums that were once included in the world's listing of "Greats" were the Munich Cabinet, the Berlin Cabinet, the Cologne Museum, the Bonn Museum, the Hamburg and Frankfurt Museums, the Halle Museum, all in cities of the same name; the Trier Museum in Treves.

Switzerland has the National museum in Zurich, Madrid the Prado Museum and Lisbon the Lison Museum. Czechoslovakia has the National Museum at Prague and the Bratislava Museum in Bratislava. Palermo, Sicily's, museum is the National.

Other noteworthy exhibitions can be found in Ankara and Istanbul, where the National Collections are located, the Smyrna Museum in Smyrna, Turkey; the Syrian National Collection, Damascus.

In Palestine are the Palestine National Collection and the Museum of the University of Jerusalem in Jerusalem, the Municipal Museum in Tel-Aviv and the Haifa Museum in Haifa. Cairo, Egypt, has a National Collection; Alexandria, Egypt, has a museum. In Algeria is the Algiers museum, in Pretoria the South African National Collection and in Johannesburg, South Africa, there is a museum.

Teheran, Iran, has a national collection; there is a museum in Bagdad and one at Kabul, Afghanistan.

India's museum attractions include the Bombay Museum, the Panjab Museum, Lahore, the Calcutta Museum and the Peshawar Museum. The Dutch Indies has the Batavia Museum and the Surabaya Museum in Java.

There is the Hanoi Museum, Hanoi, French Indo-China; the national collection at Nanking, China and the Peiping Museum in China. Seoul, Korea, has a National Museum. In Japan it is the Museum of the Mint at Osaka, the Imperial Museum in Tokyo, and Kyoto Museum in the city of Kyoto.

Australia lists the National Collection at Adelaide and the National Collection of New Zealand is located at Auckland. The Royal Ontario Museum of Archeology in Toronto, the Mexican Museum in Mexico, the Bogota Museum, Colombia, the Caracas Museum, the National Collection in Lima, Peru, and the National Museum in Buenos Aires all offer material of the highest caliber.

To complete this world directory are the National Museum at Rio de Janeiro, the Museum of Sao Paulo, Brazil, the Museum at Montevideo, Uruguay, the National Museum at Port-au-Prince, Haiti, and the Bulgarian National Museum, Sofia, Bulgaria.

Talk about the melting pot—the Lincoln head cent was designed by a Russian, the Jefferson nickel by a German, and the dime carries a Fascist symbol!

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY OF THE U.S., located at Fifteenth and Pennsylvania, avenue, N.W., (See photograph above.)

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS. The largest library in the United States should naturally contain a large number of numismatic books. The number that directly relates to numismatics is 1,767, however, those relating to coins and coinage, orders, medals and decorations, tokens counterfeiting and paper money bring the total up to 5,500.

Since the Library of Congress is the deposit agency for all copyrighted items in the United States, hence any books copyrighted will be found there.

The Library of Congress also houses the following specialized collections of interest to collectors: the Stern collection of Americana on medals, coins, and paper money; the John Davis Batchelder collection of ancient coins, Americana, and paper money and the Woodrow Wilson decorations and medals. These are under the control of the rare book division.

Any books in the general collection may be checked out by anyone in the main reading room. This is open every day of the year except Christmas and the Fourth of July. Hours are: 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays, 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays and holidays.

"CCC"—MAGIC COIN CLEANER

"CCC" is used by thousands of dealers and collectors to improve the appearance and enhance the value of coins which are FINE to UNCIRCULATED, particularly coins of copper or nickel. "CCC" also has other important though lesser known uses. Read the following interesting, unsolicited testimonial (one of dozens in our files):

"I am sure you will be interested in learning that I recently attempted the restoration of a batch of Flying Eagle cents which had been badly burned in a fire over 70 years ago. I used 'CCC' and the results were amazing!"

"Five came out EXTRA FINE, three VERY FINE, and all the rest except one are now good to fine. The lone exception proved to have lost its lettering in the fire but the bird retained nearly all of its feathers."

"Each coin proved to be an individual problem and some had to be soaked in 'CCC' overnight for many nights before the residue was loosened. A soft toothbrush was used to brush in baking soda between soakings."

"I firmly believe that burn't coins represent the stiffest challenge any coin cleaner can face. 'CCC' faced up to my problem — and won!"

"CCC" is easy to buy and easy to use. It is inexpensive (one bottle cleans hundreds of coins) and fast acting (cleans in seconds). Get the 4-oz. bottle from your dealer for $1.00 or send us a dollar for a 3-oz. bottle carefully packed and postpaid in the U.S. or Canada.

Dealers may send us $4.00 for a trial lot of six 4-oz. bottles postpaid in the U.S., or obtain larger supplies from jobbers.

CHARLOTTE (9), N.C.

A.N.A. 12945 — M.A.N.A.

The Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, pictured here, constitutes a vast collection of source materials for study of the present-day era since it contains coins, medals, tokens, currency, manuscripts, books and other historical materials placed here by F. D. R., his wife and many of his contemporaries and associates. The museum of the Library is open to the public every day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. except on Monday. It is open holidays except Christmas.

BUFFALO

BUFFALO HISTORICAL SOCIETY, Delaware Park, shows 600 U. S. coins, 400 military and commemorative medals, 2,000 tokens, 150 items of paper money and 57 books and pamphlets of numismatic interest. Closed on major holidays, the society is open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. weekdays and from 2 to 5 p. m. on Sunday.

BUFFALO MUSEUM OF SCIENCE, Humboldt Park, Northampton street, offers the famous Knox collection—The Story of Money—for inspection by scholars who make advance arrangements. The museum has withdrawn it from public exhibit for a complete renovation and recataloging process. This will require several months of research and work. The Knox collection was a gift by Mrs. Seymour H. Knox to illustrate the origin and development of money up to the establishment of standard monetary systems. Open Monday through Saturday and holidays except Christmas 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Sunday from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. Free.

HUNTINGTON

FINE ARTS BUILDING, Heckscher Park, includes more than a hundred items of a numismatic nature in its displays. Open to the public free Tuesdays through Saturdays, the hours are 10 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday hours are 2 to 5 p. m.

HYDE PARK

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT LIBRARY'S museum. (See special story at right)

DEWITT HISTORICAL SOCIETY MUSEUM, Old Court House, E. Court street, has a few coins, medals and Confederate money. Hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesday and Thursdays. Closed all holidays. Free.

LAKE GEORGE

FORT WILLIAM HENRY has numerous examples of the Colonial period monies, the earliest of which is a Spanish real minted in Peru, in its display of early American, colonial, British, Spanish and French coins, colonial and Indian medals, Civil War tokens and early currency. There are fine examples of British Colonial currency dated from 1730 and the Robert E. Lord collection of Indian peace medals and tokens. On loan is one of the original counterfeit coins produced by Thomas Machin during the American Revolution. Hours are 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. May, June, September and October, and from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. July and August. It is open seven days a week, but closed October 20 to April 30.

NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, 42nd street and 5th avenue. About 4,000 volumes on numismatics will be found in this library. The number of periodicals—both English and foreign language—is outstanding, and a number of finely illustrated works, produced mainly during eighteenth and nineteenth centuries is notable. Dealer catalogs number over 1,000.

While the New York Public Library is not a museum, it oc-asionally receives coins, medals, tokens, etc., with collections of books. It has a collection of paper money, and it's collections of colonial and Confederate paper money are among the best in any library. There are a number of paper money designs in this collection.

A list of the numismatic books in the New York Public Library was published in 1913 and is one of the more important bibliographies on the subject even today.

The library is open weekdays 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., and Sundays 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

AMERICAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY, Broadway and 156th street. (See special listing elsewhere in edition.)

FDR Library Displays Gold Tibetan Coins

Several hundred miscellaneous coins including such rare and unusual items as gold Tibetan coins and the first proof of the Jefferson nickel may be seen at the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, New York, its director, Herman Kahn, points out.

There are hundreds of medals and medallions in gold, silver and bronze, most of which were awarded to Franklin D. Roosevelt or presented to him to mark certain events.

Examples of these are his four gold inaugural medallions and gold medallions struck by the governments of Finland and Sweden to mark the centenary of the settlement of Delaware.

There are a number of other medallions outside Mr. Roosevelt's lifetime, particularly those concerned with the United States Navy.

The library has a number of tokens, the most interesting of which are the gold ones used in California. There is the second small one dollar bill issued by the United States, a sheet of 12 one dollar bills signed by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and a Turkish "short-snorter" signed by President Inonu, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston S. Churchill, Anthony Eden and others.

"We are glad to show any items in this collection to scholars providing adequate advance notice is given," Director Kahn states. "There are certain coins, medals and medallions always on exhibit in the museum of the library which is open to the public every day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Monday."

"There is an admission charge of 40 cents for those over 12 years of age. The museum is open on holidays except Christmas day," the director concluded.

New Club Is A.N.A. Member

Although the Gasco Coin and Stamp Club of Detroit, Mich., is just getting organized, it is a member of A.N.A. The group was established March 15, 1960.

There are 14 regular members and three junior members who meet the third Tuesday night of each month, 7 p. m.; at the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., 415 Clifford, Detroit.

Officers who were elected in March are: James Jaynt, Detroit, president; Walter Schmidt, Grosse Point Woods, Mich., vice president; and Eugene Horlacher, East Detroit, secretary-treasurer.

Charles Poor, Detroit, is a member of the board of directors, as is Preston Clark, Larry Corbin, William Peacock and Charles Jackson.

CAMBRIDGE

HARVARD COLLEGE LIBRARY. The collection of numismatic books in this library number over 3,000 with periodicals represented. Coins and medals comprise some 8,000 specimens, mostly ancient.

The most important donations came from the Storer family, two of whom have been curators of the collection, John Humphreys Storer (1885-1898) and Malcolm Storer (1898-1922).

The first donation was a gift of 450 coins from James Winthrop, of the class of 1769. Many of the sets of periodicals were presented by Harold Wilmerding Bell.

This library is open to scholars weekends 8:45 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturdays 8:45 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. It is closed Sundays and holidays.

Museum Occupies C.C. Mint

Carson City, Nevada's mint building which opened for operation July 1, 1869, is now occupied by a state museum where many interesting historic relics and a miniature underground exhibit can be seen. It was constructed of sandstone from the Nevada State Prison quarry. The building and machinery cost $300,000 back in 1867! The Carson City Mint coined the first standard silver dollar and the last trade dollar!

Washington Quarters Are "Sleepers!"

I think all uncirculated Washington Quarters are "sleepers" because they wear badly, so very quickly. Have you noticed?

A BELIEVE IT OR NOT!

Denver minted far less Washington Quarters in 1955 than any other year in history, except 1932 and 1940! THINK! — of their future! The 1932-D Quarter is $75.00 EACH! The 1940-D Quarter is selling for . . .

More Than Ten Times The 1955-D!!

I offer 38 rolls of 1955-D Quarters as beautiful, I think, as you will ever find. Most all are wrapped in anti-tarnish tissue and foil! Don't pass up this chance to get such nice and possibly future rarities!

Help Get Don Of Don's Out Of The Coin Vault

I'm writing these words from a coin vault. The family mistakenly locked me in the safe instead of the coins that I just purchased on a buying trip to the East. Chances are the family won't return to the vault until your orders arrive here. So, help me get out of this stuffy vault, by ordering these BALEful of bargains:

You heard about the numismatist who went into a restaurant and ordered for dessert a frosted proof set. Well, he was thinking about our beautiful, scarce 1956 frosted proof sets that we are letting go at $8.50 each or $9.50 each for sets with two frosted coins—just a little above the price for regular sets.

You can have these sets and other sets in Seitz air-tight, plastic cases. Many mint-sealed proof sets are tarnishing so save regrets tomorrow by getting proof cases today at $1 each or $1.75 for cases that will hold three sets. (Others on hand. Inquire.)

Wise collectors will also get a 1950 proof set in a Seitz case for today's price of $52.95 instead of next year's price of about $60.

You've heard of the hillbilly coyote that was howling. Why? Well, he was sitting on a cactus and was just too tired to move—but he jumped when he heard DON'S was offering 1960 mint-sealed proof sets at $4.50 each even though they'd be delivered later this year. He didn't want to miss out again and wanted to outsmart Don who'd be knocking his head against the vault when the sets hit $6 this fall.

On 1960 proofs—limited to three sets per customer—$12.95. Wise collectors will also jump at these—a complete set of 1950-1960 proof sets in Seitz cases—$175.00. Other proofs available at bargain prices and we'll pay the most to get them.

And for the grandkids or to assure yourself of additional vacations—BRILLIANT UNCIRCULATED ROLLS—the 1959-P cent rolls are about ready to jump as did the 1958-P's about a year ago. Last chance offer—$1.50 each or ten rolls for $13.50. 1960-P cent rolls (may be as many as four varieties in each roll) $1.35 each or ten rolls for $12.50. Last year's rolls, this year's bargains—Denver 1959 cents—$1.00, nickels—$2.75, dimes—$6.00—all three Denver rolls—$9.50. Two 1951-S cent rolls, BU, $27.50 each; one gem 1951-S cent roll, $30.95. (Others want $35.)

If you want to be in the know, you will order the 1961 Yeoman's bluebook—$1.00 (available in August) and Redbook—$1.75 (available now). Because we want you to be an intelligent collector, we'll give you one of the "World's Smallest" coins with each book you order. (Other publications available—inquire.) One "World's Smallest" coin FREE with all coin orders over $5. We sell the "World's Smallest" coin—smaller than the head of a thumbtack, but larger than most bank accounts—for 60 cents each of two for $1.00.

And, if you're feeling blue, you need these novelties, too—All good Masons will want the "Masonic Cent"—a cent with the Masonic emblem on it—$1.35 each or three for $3.35. Brilliant Uncirculated assortment of 20 different foreign coins—$2—20 different foreign bills, UNCIRCULATED—$3. Souvenir Indian wampum from S. Dakota—the land of Sioux Indians—for 85c per package of ten different, colorful specimens. All patriotic collectors will want the 1960 S. Dakota Centennial wooden nickel with Mount Rushmore—35c each or three for $1 and a gold-bronze souvenir coin, half dollar size, with Mt. Rushmore, covered wagon and Centennial seal—$1 each or two for $1.75. Surprise novelty—$1.35—You may return it if not satisfied. To commemorate in 1961 the start of the Civil War—a $10 Confederate Currency note, 1864, Fine, $1.75 each, two for $3.15.

B.U. singles of cents and nickels on hand at lowest quoted prices in "Today's Trends" section of COIN WORLD at time you order. Also inquire (please—stamped envelope on information and list requests) about uncirculated foreign coins and circulated U. S. coins and all supplies and coin albums.

And here's some buys—on coin supplies: Dollar size cellophane envelopes—60c per 100; Kraft brown envelopes—35c per 100—$3 per 1,000. A necessity: Blue Ribbon Coin Checklists for a complete record of your coins—75c each, two for $1.35.

As for the past seven years, we'll please you like we've pleased thousands of customers with our one-day service. Please add 35c for postage and insurance on all orders. Always—SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

These bargains may get us famous enough to have our head on Mt. Rushmore, but I hope not, for I understand Mr. Lincoln snores.

Most of these bargains are good for 60 days (so slip this—it may turn into a Confederate bill) or until you hear from me again—when you've helped me get out of that vault by stopping in, contacting us at the South Dakota COINvention or ordering by mail from our centrally located coin cove:

Coin Tale Corrected

Speaking before a group of cartoonists in 1951, Harry Truman, then President, debunked the old legend of George Washington's throwing a silver dollar across the Potomac.

"It was a Spanish piece of eight," said Truman, correcting one of history's legends, "and it was thrown across the Rappahannock. Any 10-year-old boy could throw a dime across at that place."

"But I am doubtful that Washington, with his acquisitive habits, would ever let loose of a Spanish piece of eight."

SOLD OUT!

GOLD

Gold coin of .900 fineness or 21.6 karat with weight of about 7 ounces. Limited issue of 100 serially numbered medals.

$850.00

The official medal has now been struck as authorized by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12 and adopted by the First Legislature of the State of Hawaii, meeting in Special Session on October 22, 1959. It commemorates the official entry of Hawaii into the Union as the 50th State.

The entry of a new state into the Union is such a rare and unusual occurrence, and is so national in character that ownership and display of this memento of a great historical event will afford everyone much personal pride and pleasure. It will make a truly important numismatic gem in your collection.

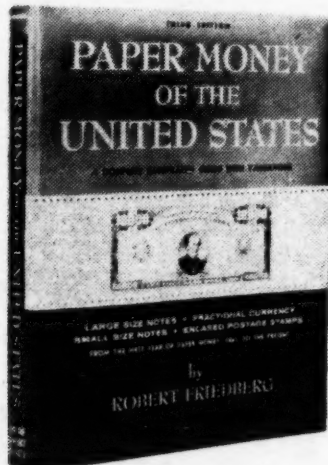

The Hawaii medal is now available and is attractively packaged in its own box with a printed leaflet containing pertinent and important data. The medal was executed by the Medallic Art Co. and is nationally distributed by the Coin and Currency Institute, Inc.

The Hawaii Medal is now, or shortly will be, available through your local coin jobber, coin and stamp dealer, hobby shop or at department store coin counters. Contact your favorite or nearest source for these medals.

ALASKAN STATEHOOD MEDAL

The bronze medal for Alaska is still available at $4.00 and a few gold medals can be secured for $850. All silver medals have been sold. This is a companion piece to the Hawaii medal.

PAPER MONEY OF THE UNITED STATES

A complete illustrated guide with valuations by Robert Friedberg. Large size notes, small size notes, fractional currency, encased postage stamps are included.

For the first time in history, all types of U.S. paper money from 1861 to the present, from three cents to $10,000, are completely illustrated, with collector's valuations. A new, remarkable section, "National Bank Notes by States" illustrates and evaluates by state every National Bank Note, more than 2,200 valuations in all! Territorial Notes are also catalogued, and finally there is a geographical and numerical list of all 14,348 National Banks. More than 300 pages, 8 1/2" x 11", cloth bound. The only reference work of its kind in the world. A definitive work. Third Edition, 1959.

... with a New Kind of
COIN ALBUM

THE LIBRARY OF COINS

Complete visibility and complete protection, the two most-wanted features of a coin album, are presented for the first time by THE LIBRARY OF COINS. Bound like books, handsome and compact, each Library of Coins volume displays and protects its coins between two sliding panels of clear, tough plastic. Each coin "porthole" has printed next to it full data on mint mark and quantity minted. Each volume contains a brief background story on the coins, giving both the novice and advanced collector helpful information, including a listing of the rare dates.

Measuring 8 1/4" x 6 1/4", the volumes are low priced, sturdily manufactured, and permanently bound in a variety of identifying colors for the various denominations. Their compact size permits the storing of a large coin collection in very small space. Backbones are clearly gold stamped so that they are as readily identifiable as are books.

The Library of Coins represents the first major innovation in high grade coin albums in more than 30 years, and was several years in development. Designed by numismatists, the Library of Coins is designed to satisfy the needs and desires of numismatists. Write for descriptive circular on the Library of Coins.

Our albums and books are available at your local coin dealer, stamp dealer, book store, hobby shop or, at department store coin counters.

Dealers are invited to send for our Wholesale Price List, using their business stationery and furnishing suitable credit references as to their commercial status.
